Gold News

- ❑ The Producer Price Index (PPI), a key barometer of inflation in the U.S. economy, reported no change in the latest data release, defying expectations and potentially signalling a slowdown in inflation.
- ❑ The actual figure came in at 0.0%, falling short of the forecasted increase of 0.2%. This flatlining of the PPI is a departure from the previous month's reading of 0.3%, marking a notable deceleration in the price of goods sold by manufacturers.

Technical Overview

- ❑ GOLD : Technically, gold prices gained yesterday but remained in previously established range. The MACD is remaining slumbry while RSI is staying at 54 levels on the daily chart. However, gold prices have formed a support near 97400, if prices continue hold this support then bounce is expected in today's session. Gold has resistance at 99000 and a further support at 96500.

Silver News

- ❑ The flat PPI reading could be interpreted as bearish for the USD. It suggests that manufacturers are not seeing an increase in the prices they can charge for their goods, which could in turn imply a slowdown in consumer demand.
- ❑ This could put downward pressure on the USD, as lower demand often translates into slower economic growth.

Technical Overview

- ❑ SILVER : Technically, silver has formed a doji candle on the daily chart and remained below the resistance levels. However, MACD is still positive with moderate buying momentum but RSI has slipped below 67 levels yesterday indicating range-bound move in today's session.
