- Nifty slipped 0.49% to close at 25,202, facing rejection from the upper resistance zone around 25,350–25,400. The index still holds above all key EMAs, keeping the broader trend intact, but today's profit booking signals short-term consolidation. The RSI at 58 has cooled off from near-overbought zones, suggesting loss of immediate momentum, while the ADX at 21 indicates trend strength remains moderate. Going forward, support is seen at 25,050–24,950, while sustaining above 25,350 could open the way towards 25,600+. Until then, range-bound action with a slight bullish bias is likely.
- Bank Nifty slipped 0.31% to 55,284, showing mild profit booking after its recent pullback rally. The index is hovering near short-term EMAs and facing resistance around 55,600–55,800, which remains a crucial supply zone. The RSI has cooled to 54, reflecting loss of immediate momentum from earlier readings, while ADX at 22 signals a weak trend environment. On the downside, support is placed at 54,900–54,500, and only a break below this may trigger deeper retracement towards 54,200. Sustaining above 55,600 would be essential for a move towards 56,200–56,500.
