

Nifty50

Closing price	R1	R2	S1	S2
23416.55	23,500	23,650	23,300	23,100

Nifty remains in a weak to neutral short-term trend, trading below its key short-term moving averages and facing resistance near the 23,500–23,650 zone. Momentum indicators remain subdued, with RSI around 42, suggesting limited buying strength despite the recent pullback. On the downside, the index is approaching an important support area near 23,300, followed by stronger support at 23,150 and 23,000. A sustained move above 23,650 could trigger short covering and improve sentiment, potentially driving the index toward 23,900, while a break below 23,300 may invite fresh selling pressure and drag the index toward lower support levels. Until a decisive breakout occurs, the market is likely to remain range-bound with a mildly bearish bias, and traders should focus on stock-specific opportunities while maintaining strict risk management and closely monitoring key support and resistance levels.

Bank Nifty

Closing price	R1	R2	S1	S2
54307.85	55,000	55,944	54,000	53,830

On the downside, the index is approaching an important support area near 54,000, followed by stronger support at 53,830 and 52,095. A sustained move above 55,024 could trigger short covering and improve sentiment, potentially driving the index toward 55,944, while a break below 53,800 may invite fresh selling pressure and drag the index toward lower support levels. Until a decisive breakout occurs, the market is likely to remain range-bound with a mildly bearish bias, and traders should focus on stock-specific opportunities while maintaining strict risk management and closely monitoring key support and resistance levels.
