

Nifty50

Closing price	R1	R2	S1	S2
25,818.55	26000	26100	25600	25500

- Nifty ended the session marginally lower at 25,818.55, declining 0.16%, as the index continued to consolidate after the recent rally. Price remains above key medium-term moving averages, indicating that the broader trend is still positive, though short-term momentum has softened.
- The index is hovering near its rising 20 and 50 EMAs, which are acting as immediate dynamic supports, while the 100 and 200 EMAs remain comfortably below current levels, reinforcing underlying strength. RSI around 46 reflects a loss of momentum and a neutral-to-mildly weak bias in the near term, suggesting consolidation rather than a trend reversal.
- On the downside, 25,600–25,500 is a crucial support zone to watch, while on the upside, a move back above 26,000–26,100 would be needed to revive bullish momentum and open the path toward recent highs.

Bank Nifty

Closing price	R1	R2	S1	S2
58,926.75	59,700	59,800	58,600	58,200

- Bank Nifty closed marginally lower at 58,926.75 (-0.18%), continuing its sideways-to-corrective consolidation after a strong prior uptrend.
- The index is trading above the 50 EMA but is struggling to sustain above the short-term averages, indicating a pause in momentum.
- The highlighted 58,600–58,800 zone remains a crucial support area; a decisive break below this could invite deeper consolidation toward 58,200–58,000.
- On the upside, 59,500–59,800 continues to act as a stiff resistance, and only a close above this zone would revive bullish momentum.
- RSI near 50 reflects a neutral bias with mild loss of strength, suggesting range-bound action in the near term. Overall structure remains positive, but fresh directional cues are awaited.
